

The Carnival Pride has arrived at the Port of Baltimore for the debarking process. The public should be aware that while most snow has been cleared, they should still expect pockets of snow and ice in the parking lots.

The public should expect services at the cruise terminal will not be up to the standards our customers are used to.

The Carnival Pride is still scheduled to leave this evening at 530 pm as scheduled. Please check in with this website throughout the day for updates.
